

DISCLAIMER

The use of this web site, and the terms and conditions for our providing information, is governed by this disclaimer. The materials on this website are for informational and educational purposes only. They are not offered as and do not constitute legal advice or legal opinions. The content of this web site contains general information and may not reflect current developments, verdicts or settlements.

By entering this web site, you acknowledge and agree that any name, logo, trademark or servicemark contained on this web site is owned or licensed by Carballo Law and may not be used by you without prior written approval. Sound, graphics, charts, information or images of places or people are either the property of Carballo Law or used on this web site with permission. Your use of any of these materials is prohibited unless specifically provided for on the website. This website occasionally contains links to other web pages. The inclusion of such links, however, does not constitute referrals or endorsements of the linked entities. Carballo Law specifically disclaims any responsibility for positions taken by users in their individual capacities or for any misunderstanding on the part of users of this website or any linked websites. These materials may be changed or updated without notice.

The hiring of a lawyer is an important decision and the formation of an attorney-client relationship requires prior satisfaction of multiple factors including resolution of possible conflicts of interest, an appropriate fee arrangement and mutual agreement on the terms of the engagement. Please do not convey to us any information that you regard as confidential until a formal attorney-client relationship has been established. Any information you convey to Carballo Law via the Internet may not be secure, and information conveyed prior to establishing an attorney-client relationship may not be privileged or confidential.